L. A. MAN IN SECRET QUIZ Launch H. B. Oil Battle

The city of Huntington Beach will launch legal action next week to gain title to the tidelands off the city and also to keep the Southwest Exploration company from drilling into the tideland oil pool west of Twenty-third street, it was announced today.

First steps in the battle were taken by the city council last night, when Attorney George Bush was engaged to assist City Attorney Ray Overacker in preparing necessary legal papers. Bush will receive a retainer of $500 and $50 per day for office work and $100 per day for court service.

Bush and Overacker will meet with the city council next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, when legal action will be authorized. Councilman Tom Talbert said this morning. Talbert contends that the city owns the tidelands through a grant from the state. The city owns a 30-foot strip of Coast highway and may base an injunction action on the grounds of trespass, it was said.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF COUNTY CALLED

Death came suddenly to James T. Raith, 70, of R. D. 4, Anaheim, at his home last night after an illness lasting more than two years and brought to a close a long career of distinguished service in Orange county.

It is claimed that the records were used in preparation of a second pamphlet, which was not distributed. McElveen disclaims any connection with such use of the records.

Nail Pierces Baby's Head

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Jackie Holt, who is 13 months old and apparently doesn't approve of babies crying, was back at his favorite diversion of playing on the kitchen linoleum today, seemingly suffering no ill effects from a nail which penetrated his head to the depth of an inch yesterday.

Jackie's mother, Mrs. William H. Holt, returned to the kitchen from another room. There sat Jackie with a shingle fastened against the top of his head. It was held tightly by a nail driven into his skull as cleanly as with a hammer. Jackie had tipped over backward from his high chair and had landed upon his head against the shingle and nail.

He was taken to a hospital. The attending physician believed it was safe to pull the nail straight out. Jackie's mother agreed, and Jackie sat through the ordeal without shedding a tear.

Deny Bund-KKK Affiliation

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Charges before the Dies committee that the German-American Bund is affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan or Mexican Gold Shirts were denied today by Arne Risso, district Bund commander.

"The Bund," insisted Risso, "has no connection whatsoever with the Mexican Gold Shirts or the Ku Klux Klan. The Bund is strictly American and does not need any outside help. In fact, our membership rises so rapidly that we are compelled to call a temporary halt in our membership campaign. Eighty per cent of our members are born in the United States."

HIRAM JOHNSON, HOOVER BACK PHILIP BANCROFT FOR SENATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Candidacy of Philip Bancroft for U. S. Senator today had the backing of two of America's outstanding Republicans—former President Herbert Hoover and California's Senior Senator Hiram Johnson.

Both supporters broke their silence on current state politics, matters for the first time in formal announcements urging Bancroft's election over Sheridan Downey, Liberal Democrat, in the November general elections.

"Sane—Courageous" Hoover's brief statement, issued while he was enroute to the east for a speaking engagement Oct. 17 in Hartford, Conn., read:

"The greatest help this country could have today is the addition of independent minded, sane and courageous men to Congress. Mr. Bancroft is just the man. He has the capacity, the character, and the experience that our country needs."

"His election would give California a large place in the United States Senate."

Pledged Support

Johnson's pledge of support came in an announcement recalling that Bancroft "in 1910 was one of the little band of men unafraid who rallied to me in a time of political stress. When we were under the iron and corrupt rule of a great organization, and a few adventurous spirits started upon their great crusade, he was in the van."

The reference was to the time Johnson bolted the state party machine and launched a campaign as a progressive against what he claimed was corporation control of the state.

RANCHERS ACT ON VOTE ISSUES

Celebrating the 21st anniversary of the founding of the Orange County Farm Bureau, directors of the organization met at the Farm Bureau building yesterday to consider recommendations on propositions appearing on the fall ballot.

Chief proposals receiving the endorsement of the Farm Bureau included Proposition Number 1, entitled "Labor." The directors opposed the so-called "Single Tax," the Garrison Bond Act, and the "$30 every Thursday" measure, among others. Opposition to the single tax was based upon the expectation that such a tax would ruin California farmers, and the Farm Bureau expects to carry on an active campaign against the measure.

Marketing Group

The Garrison Bond Act was opposed on the basis of it not requiring the regular 2-3 majority in voting bonds, but reduces the number to a mere majority.

A marketing committee was set up to be composed of representatives from each commodity group in the county. This marketing committee is a part of a state-wide group within the farm bureau who will study especially fruit and vegetable marketing with the goal of formulating practices and legislation that will help to return to the grower a larger share of the price of his product.

Foothill Center was announced as the winner of the award given annually to the farm center holding the best meetings during the year.

President L. P. Halderman announced that the farm bureau chorus intends to join other singers throughout the state in the formation of a singing group of 400 which will perform at the state convention at Sacramento during November. Frank Pierce, former resident of Santa Ana, will conduct the chorus.

Four Resolutions

Action was taken by the directors on four resolutions which will come before the state convention of farm bureau. Two of these referred to dried fruit standardization and grading. Another one upon which action was deferred asked that vote upon bond issues be made by real estate owners. The fourth resolution asked that relief projects should be of the most economic value to the community.

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, reviewed 11 years of work in fire prevention in the forests and rural sections of Orange county. Halderman named Dian Gardner, V. C. Heil and G. C. Darnall as a nominating committee to report at the November meeting, at which time officers for 1939 will be selected.

FIRE CHIEFS URGE COUNTY-WIDE AID

The Orange County Fire Chiefs Association today urged citizens of Orange county, schools, service clubs, churches, and all organizations to assist and cooperate in the fight to control the fire waste of the nation by observing National Fire Prevention Week, October 9 to 15.

"Fire in the nation last year took a toll of more than 10,000 lives and cost the country $300,000,000," R. R. Davis, president of the association said. "It is estimated that 80 per cent of all fires are preventable."

"Fire properly controlled is one of our best friends, but uncontrolled becomes one of our worst enemies."

"Burning of rubbish in the back yard is a hazard. Fires should be supervised and never left until entirely out. Proper clearance and distance should be observed, at least 15 or 20 feet from all inflammable material and the time limited to the hours between 6 a. m. and 12 noon," Davis said.

Orange Man Plans Exhibit Of Chows

Cecil Maibach, 374 North Pine street, Orange, is to exhibit his prize winning Chows at the Chow Fanciers Show to be held in connection with the All Breed Dog Show to be held in the Pasadena Municipal auditorium, October 29 and 30. The dogs are from the Celen Kennels.

The Chows received high awards at the recent Los Angeles county fair at Pomona. Wullee Brillian, champion Chow, was named best Chow in the show and his mother, Brilee Ting Fu, was awarded second place in the American bred females, winning her place in a class of five dogs. Wullee received a two-foot high gold cup to add to his many other trophies.

COLLAPSE OF WALK IS BASIS OF SUIT

Collapse of a board walk which covered a concrete storm drain at Richfield, causing his to receive serious injuries, was the basis of a suit for $11,108.21 damages filed today in superior court by John Oberg against Lars and Seth Oberg.

The defendant Oberg Brothers were contractors on the Richfield storm drain project last year, and John Oberg, the plaintiff, had guaranteed their performance of the contract, he alleges in the suit just filed. For that reason, he states, they had invited him to periodically inspect the work as it progressed.

He was on a visit of inspection November 27, 1937, when the board walk collapsed under him and dropped him to the bottom of the concrete drain, causing spinal fractures and other injuries, he claims. He was in a hospital until last January.

to drill 87 wells into the tidelands and is preparing to begin drilling operations. The company has elected two derricks on the harbor field of the Standard Oil company. The proposed wells will be offset to the Standard's tideland wells west of Twenty-third street.

City officials of Huntington Beach and representatives of the Southwest company conferred in Long Beach yesterday on a royalty for Huntington Beach but were unable to come to an agreement.

According to reports, the company was willing to give a small royalty but the amount did not meet with the approval of the beach city officials.

"Humane Bits"

By FLORENCE A. ROBINSON

From time to time the Orange County Humane society has heard good and bad stories of acts of Uncle Sam's mail carriers toward dogs. I know, as well as you, that there are some dogs that are a lot like some people—full of bark with nary a bite.

And I suppose that there are just as many different types of mailmen as there are dogs. It has been found that a few minutes of small talk with the barking dog, a pat on the head when the acquaintance grows warmer will soon show the dog that most men will do them no harm.

Thoughtless and unfeeling conduct rapidly develops into cruelty.

Tippie, the Allan V. Elstan's comfortable-looking Cocker spaniel (comfortable because she has just had a blood transfusion and other medical aid she fooled them all and still lives to tell the tale; if dogs can talk we know she has lots of sex appeal and that speaks for itself.

staying at U.C.L.A. this year and Tippy, who has always lavished most of her affection on this member of the family, just can't get used to seeing his empty room and not hearing the tooting of his cornet.

Tippie, being one of the die-hards, did no doubt survive, as she has had several accidents in which she came out the loser.

The last time she argued the right of way with an automobile in front of her home on North Flower street, she was sobbed over and given up for dead; but the attendant veterinarian discovered a faint sign of life just as the family was about to pick a burial place, and with a blood transfusion and other medical aid she fooled them all and still lives to tell the tale; if dogs can talk we know she has lots of sex appeal and that speaks for itself.

EUROPE REACTS TO PEACE PACT

BY WEBB MILLER

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(UP)—After Europe's first explosion of joy in the belief that dismemberment of Czechoslovakia under a four-power agreement had avoided war, a definite reaction has set in. There are now doubts that permanent peace has arrived.

I am personally convinced, after following the crisis through every phase, that the men responsible for Europe's major nations do not place nearly as much confidence in the possibility of "peace in our time" as the general public did immediately after the Munich conference.

Adolf Hitler convinced British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, I learned from reliable sources, that Germany is determined to become the predominant power in Europe.

In their conversations leading up to the partitioning of Czechoslovakia the Nazi Fuehrer left absolutely no doubt in Chamberlain's mind that the third Reich expects to achieve political, military and economic domination on the continent.

He was understood to have indicated to Chamberlain that he regarded this domination as Germany's inalienable right due to her population of almost 80,000,000, her political and industrial organization and the "genius" of the German people. Already Hitler's hatred of Eduard Benes has led to resignation of the Czech president.

And there, in best informed opinion, lies the crux of the danger ahead: the answer to whether Europe is heading for a period of peace or merely a breathing space before war.

Great Britain's traditional policy, which she has always considered necessary for her security, has been to prevent the rise of any predominant military power on the continent. History shows that Britain felt herself compelled to halt the rise of other great powers in the past—the Dutch, the Spanish and, in Napoleon's time, the French.

If Europe again is faced with a general war, it probably will be

Hold Last Rites
For Ira Maxwell

LA HABRA, Oct. 7.—Services were held yesterday for Ira A. Maxwell, 46 of La Habra, who died Tuesday morning at the Veterans hospital at Sawtelle, following a short illness.

Mr. Maxwell enlisted in the World War in Denver, in July, 1917, and went overseas with the Sunshine division. He was given his honorable discharge in 1919. He has been ill health for several years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hazel Donaldson Maxwell, and one son, Paul, 11, of La Habra. He also leaves his father and four sisters in the east and one brother, C. T. Maxwell of Whittier.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Dennis B. Rickard, pastor of the La Habra Christian church. Interment was made at Loma Vista cemetery.

BOND PROPOSAL HIT BY LEGION

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—Warning that Proposition No. 13, the so-called Garrison Bond act, "would remove the limit on the public debt and thus discredit future issue of legitimate state bonds, such as those used in financing the purchasing of homes and farms under the Veterans Welfare act," a resolution adopted at the state convention of the American Legion urges all veterans to vote "no" on the proposal.

"The Garrison bill (No. 13) would evade the safeguard requirement in California of a two-thirds vote of the people for the creation of public debt through bond issues," the resolution states forth. "Such an act would permit the wholesale floating of bonds by a bare majority vote, when experience has shown that so-called self-liquidating bonds finally have to be paid for by the general taxpaying public."

Texas Oil Price Reduction Hit

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 7.—(UPI)—Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas railroad commission said today that there was no justification for the general reduction in crude oil prices in states surrounding Texas.

Standard Oil of Louisiana had cut its price offered to a maximum of $1.05 per barrel of 40,000 gravity albert salt number one Louisiana crude. That price represented a cut of 17 cents. Redessa field in Louisiana had been given notice to stand by. Prices reductions ranging from 2 to 20 cents per barrel.

Buckner, Magnolia and Village field of Arkansas were offered a 17 cent cents, after posting of a 17 cent reduction allowing ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Hanna, missionary teacher in Siam, was the honor guest and speaker at the meeting of the Women's Fellowship of the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Hanna is the wife of the missionary supported by the Orange church for work among the Siamese.

Daily life in Siam was told by the speaker, who teaches classes of young boys. She told of the difficulty encountered in attempting to get Siamese poetry to American hymn tunes as Siamese rhythm is complicated and must have several times as many rhymes as the same words in English.

Come SEE why the Moderns are saying:

"Buick's the Beauty!"

Star Performer ushers in new Style
Cycle with stunning designs that key-note next year's mode

IT all started with "catwalk-cooling," on the costly racing cars of Europe.

They were shooting at better aerodynamics, not new styling—but they touched off something that will re-pattern cars everywhere before it's done.

Not that looks alone ever come first with Buick. What's really Buick is underneath all that, down deep in the good true metals, the split-hair precision, the tough alloys.

But everyone goes for beauty, and you would be less than human if you didn't thrill to an eyeful of the smartest dressed automobile you ever saw.

So let your gaze take it in. Spot the radiator grilles... down low. They're the key to new-day design.

They're also placed where air pressure's greatest—your engine cools under forced draft!

Under that comely bonnet is the engine with more abundant life—that quick quiet Dynaflash valve-in-head straight-eight!

Under that roomy Body by Fisher are the great slow spirals of BuicCoil springing, to give you the true "full float" ride. And in that body, is new wide-paned visibility — up to 413 more square inches of glass.

The whole staunch, firm, beautiful car looks like what it is—a car to love and live with.

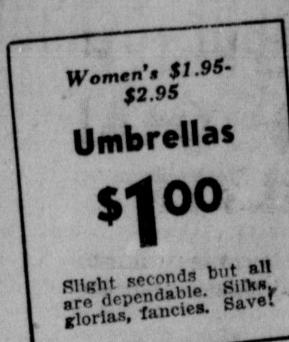

Come see it. Just as it stands there, tuned for your service, it seems to be ready to fly!

DOTS AND DASHES

Personal to Coach Bill Foote of Santa Ana's Saints: Charley Ehr, quarterback of the late great California "Wonder Teams," called the other day on his old teammate, Archie Nisbet, and gave Nisbet's Pomona preps a new pass play, "guaranteeing a touchdown the first time used." It worked against El Monte, not once but twice. Pomona pre-season favorite to relieve Santa Ana of its Citrus Belt championship, plays the Saints here next Friday, so be watchin' for that touchdown. Who hasn't come to see the footroot touchdown play? ...

Don Warhurst has a sprained wrist up at Berkeley, but everything is under control even if the '37 Saint captain is out of the Cal-frosh lineup for a week. It happens the frosh don't play tomorrow. They come to Los Angeles next week for a session with the Trojans....

When She Was U. S. Diving Queen

North Broadway. A physician, he is associated with Dr. E. F. Brunning. In her competitive days, Mrs. Young was seven times National diving champion, once Olympic champion and twice a member of the U. S. Olympic team....

Umpire Bill Stewart believes Fullerton's "Arky" Vaughan would be the best hitter in baseball if he only would utilize his speed as well as his power. "If Arky would push the ball to the left side of the infield once in a while," explains Stewart, "he'd be a much more dangerous batter, and his average would pick up plenty." Vaughan, a left-handed hitter, is very fast and gets away from the plate in a hurry....

Wonder if ex-Yank Tony Lazzeri coached "Dizzy" Dean how to pitch to those other San Francisco Wops, Crossetti and DiMaggio?... Wayne Piper, fleet Saint halfback, ought to be called Gypsy. Before settling in Santa Ana three years ago, he attended 14 different grade schools.... Joe Rodgers is in New York and will catch the rest of the world series.... Umpire Francis Lemon made the grave mistake of going to Pittsburgh to see the Eastern end of the series.... of course that was before the Pirates' great el tido. Rodgers will spend a week in the Ozarks before returning home....

Please don't blame me for this one, but the high school has a new yell and will spring it today on Huntington Beach. It's called the Jitterbug, and goes like this:

Boo ski wat en da da
Wa da en Saints.
Boo ski wat en da da
Wa da en Saints.
Iski biddely iddely diddely
Iski biddely woden do do.
Bo bo ski wat en da da

Al Reboin could carry the mail for my ball team anytime, but I'm not quite as sure as the reporter who unhesitatingly designates him as Santa Ana's all-time No. 1.

Board Launches Boxing Inquiry

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(UPI)—The State Athletic Commission today announced plans for a sweeping state-wide investigation of boxing as a result of the present investigation of charges made by Alphonso "Big Boy" Bray, Negro heavyweight, that he was offered a bribe to "throw" his Sept. 27 match with Chuck Crowell.

Plans for the general inquiry were announced by Dr. Peter S. Mac Callum, one of the Southern California members of the commission, at a brief preliminary investigation of the Bray-Crowell case.

"In the interest of clean sport, a.d to clear boxing in California of any 'black-eyes,' we will open a state-wide investigation of conditions surrounding the matching and holding of prize fights," Dr. Mac Callum said.

MAC PREPARES CUB GUIDE BOOK

By HENRY McLEMORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—The Chicago Cubs reached New York today for a very brief stay.

They play the New York Yankees tomorrow and Sunday in what has been nick-named the world's series. On Sunday they must return to their homes.

New York is so big and so confusing to a stranger that I thought it would be nice to prepare a guide book of the city for the benefit of the visitors from the west. The first two games of the world's series proved that it takes about two hours for the Yankees to dispose of the Cubs. This leaves the Chicago players with about 22 hours a day on their hands. Where should they go? What should they see? Who should they meet?

For the convenience of the mid-western visitors we have attached a guide to what O. Henry once called Bagdad on the Subway:

THE BATTERY—This is the finest battery in the world, which should be a distinct novelty to the Cubs. Here they may study at first hand the game fish which swims upstream. The Cubs naturally should have much in common with these strange specimens.

THE STORM CLUB—This palace of pleasure was named after a bird that stands on one leg. It should interest the Cubs because they too have only one leg to stand on at this point.

GRANT'S TOMB—Here is buried the man who said he would fight it out if it took all summer and the Cub should be interested. It will take them all winter to beat the Yankees.

EMPIRE STATE BUILDING—On clear days visitors with high-powered binoculars should be able to see a chance for the Cubs. This is practically impossible for the naked eye.

THE SUBWAY—Lower than the Cubs and travels much faster.

BELLEVUE HOSPITAL—While sight-seeing here look around for a comfortable cot for you may be there Monday. The familiar faces are fans who bet on the National league.

BROOKLYN BRIDGE—A good place to jump from.

GEORGE WASHINGTON BRIDGE—A better place to jump from.

RIVERSIDE DRIVE—This will be the first drive the Cubs have seen since they overtook the Pilots.

HOLLAND TUNNEL—A good place to hide.

THE YANKEE STADIUM—You'll have to go there anyway, whether you like it or not.

ORANGE 'BEES' TOO GOOD FOR LATHROP

NORTH CAROLINA IS RATED GRID LEADER

LOS ANGELES.—(UPI)—Statistical Dept. Houghgate bracketed North Carolina, Pittsburgh and Texas Christian at the head of the nation's football teams today as a result of the first two weeks play.

His system gave the three undefeated units teams 14 points each.

California, Minnesota, Oregon and Tennessee each had 13 points; Duke Georgia and Navy 12.

Houghgate awards points for each team's strength. Santa Clara and Notre Dame are low for having victory, depending upon the opponent only one game.

He placed Idaho 13th; Santa

Clara 24th.

Al Reboin could carry the mail for my ball team anytime, but I'm not quite as sure as the reporter who unhesitatingly designates him as Santa Ana's all-time No. 1.

PEARSON HURLS AGAINST BRYANT IN THIRD GAME

By HARRY FERGUSON

(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—The Chicago Cubs beat the New York Yankees today into New York for the third game of the 1938 world series.

The Cubs, trailing two games to nothing, arrived in New York an hour before the defending champions and quietly went to their headquarters at the Hotel Commodore.

The Yanks roared into town with a crowd of 1000 jamming the lower level of Pennsylvania station to welcome them home. Thousands more were gathered upstairs—but none of them had a look at the Yanks because they left through a back door.

Neither team planned to practice today at Yankee stadium for the third game tomorrow.

The Yankees were 2-1 favorites along Broadway to win tomorrow and 10-1 to win the series.

Tomorrow, in Yankee stadium, Manager Joe McCarthy sends Monte Pearson against the Cubs. Monte Pearson who is rested and relaxed. Monte Pearson who threw a no-hitter game this season. Monte Pearson who, when he is right, comes close to being as effective a pitcher as there is in baseball.

Bryant To Pitch Next One

For the Cubs, all their hopes and a thin chance at the winners' share of the series ride on Clay Bryant, a youngster who will try to do a job too big for Bill Lee and "Dizzy" Dean. Bryant throws smoke and it is said that there is nothing the Yankees love better than a chance to dig their spikes in and tee off against a fast-ball slinger.

So it looks dark for Mr. Bryant and the rest of the Cubs. They lost a 6 to 3 heartbreaker yesterday, back there in Wrigley field, when old "Dizzy" Dean plucked his heart out and threw it up to the plate but couldn't turn the tide.

For seven innings of as good a ball game as will ever see, old Diz lit his dead right arm and commanded the stormy winds and waves of the Yankees to stand still. And the winds and the waves obeyed, heaven only knows why, for all Diz had out there was a player and an old brown glove. But in the eighth inning, the waves rolled and the winds roared. Frankie Crossetti arched a ball toward the left field wall and it cleared the bricks by a yard, giving the Yankees two runs and sending them out in front of the ball game.

Homers Chase Dean

Diz begged at the bill of his blue cap and stayed in there and pitched, though, and it was not until the ninth that the hurricane blew him out of Wrigley field, Henrich, on the strength of a neat single, was on first base and up there at the plate waving a big yellow bat was 195 pounds of dynamite named Joe Di Maggio. Up went old Diz' dead arm and in came the ball.

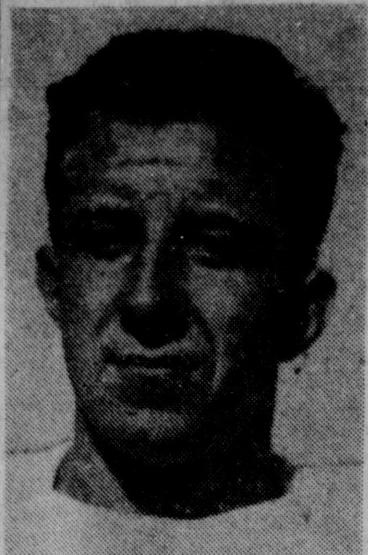

Crack! On the street beyond the left field wall at Wrigley field there is a yellow brick apartment house, five stories tall. It's just a guess, but the ball Di Maggio hit probably bounced close against a second story window of that building after clearing the wall. That was the end of Diz for the afternoon, and for all anybody knows today, for all time. Hartnett waved to the bull pen and Larry French came in to take up the burden.

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—Coach Howard Jones and 37 Southern California football players were greeted by "California" sunshine but the coolest Columbus temperature of the autumn season when they arrived today for their intersectional football game Saturday with Ohio State. The temperature was 54.

Jones refused to predict the outcome of the game but said his team showed "greater potentialities" than the 1:37 aggregation that defeated Ohio State, 13 to 12, in Los Angeles.

"I never predict results of ball games because you can't tell about the psychological and other factors," Jones said.

He said the Trojans were in good physical condition except for minor injuries to guard Mickey Anderson and Ambrose Schindler's leg injury. Jones doubted that Schindler would play and it was reported he may drop out of the college this year in order to prepare another year of athletic competition.

Arkansas-Baylor — Baylor, but don't ask why.

Alabama-North Carolina State—Alabama, if you believe the Dixie rooters, is rolling toward return engagement at the Rose Bowl.

Army-Columbia — The Cadets squeeze through—but watch Luckman.

Brown-LaFayette — Brown, on its form last week in taking Harvard.

Colgate-Duke — Duke by three touchowns.

Georgia Tech-Notre Dame—Notre Dame, with the substitutes not getting as much work as they did last week against Kansas.

Harvard-Cornell—Harvard takes it on the chin again.

Illinois-Indiana — Indiana too strong all the way.

Iowa-Wisconsin—Wisconsin improved; Iowa not going anywhere.

L.S.U.-Rice—Day's best bet for a tie.

Michigan-Chicago — Michigan,

Minnesota-Purdue — Minnesota, with enough power to light a good sized town.

Navy-Virginia — All Virginia has is a fine nickname—the Cavaliers.

Nebraska-Iowa State—Nebraska closes the Cyclones to a zephyr.

North Carolina-Tulane — Carolina by 15 points or more.

Northern-Western—Drake is playing out of its league.

Ohio State-U.S.C.-U.S.C. in the day's seven-star special.

Penn-Yale — Yale looks awfully bad without Clint Frank.

Pittsburgh-Duquesne—The Pittsburgh make the Smoky City forget about those ball players.

Dartmouth-Princeton — Dartmouth moves out of the bush league division and wins its first big one of the year.

Stanford-Princeton — Stanford scored the lone touchdown of the game in the second quarter following a blocked kick, which was followed by a 20-yard run on a reverse to pay dirt by Fred Pope, right half.

Chicks Whip Britts To Delight Of Fans

Although a few left their finger-nails at the scene of battle, patrons of the Orange County Athletic club left for home in high good humor after last night's slug-festival. They had been paying good money for weeks hoping to see the notorious Britt brothers get the works and finally got their wishes fulfilled in a big way. To add to the glory of the thing, the Britts were smeared not by Mr. Duke Chick alone, with the assistance of a half-dozen or so ringside customers who added moral support by reaching into the ring and tripping the Britts at every opportunity.

It all happened this way: The Britts came out using their usual line of "dirty stuff" and were met with a series of elbows to the whiskers dished out by the Chicks with such gusto that Floyd Britt turned "chicken" and ran through the ropes, spending more time outside than he did on the mat. Alvin kept up his arm work, wearing his opponents down and finally flipping Bob Chick with a body-slam. Then he grabbed Duke and held him by both arms while Floyd slugged him on the button until he was out cold in 18:34.

The Chicks held a council of war during the rest period and when they came out grabbed the Britts and gave them a merry dose of their own short-arm rough stuff. The Britts cried on Referee Jack Allen's shoulder with no results, so the Chicks poured it on all the more until Bobbie secured an airplane spin on Floyd and dumped him on his manly dome where he stayed. Then he held Alvin Britt while Duke slugged him into dreamland.

The Britts tore out for the third inning in a rage, tangled Duke's arms in the ropes and while the referees and accommodating ringsiders were endeavoring to untangle him, beat Floyd to the canvas and knocked him out. The referee dragged the unfortunate one to the ringside, propped him up in a seat and turned Duke loose alone in the lion's den with fists flying. He backed Alvin up to the ropes where Brother Bob was coming out of his trance long enough to trip Britt, sending him on his "bezer." Then he slugged Floyd until he, too, was out. Alvin regained his feet and tore at Duke who again backed him to the ropes where accommodating cash customers tripped the Kansan every time he tried to gain his feet while Duke poured in haymakers, eventually cutting one loose that knocked Britt clear across the ring. He was still stretched out there wondering whether to bomb the hit at him when the last cash customer went home.

Jimmie Lott and Bob Wagner came in for a big cheer from the audience for putting on a clean and still a thrilling match. It ended in a draw.

Monty LaDue wrecked "Comrade" Josef Smallinski's leg with a steppover toe hold in 18:23 and repeated to take the second and deciding fall.

quarterback. That's taking in quite a bit of territory to say nothing of a good many years.

Marvin (Spud) Morrison was a regular coach out there on the football field in his time, and if the Saints ever had a smarter signal-caller or a better punt-receiver than Elwayne (Eeny) Wilcox I never saw him.

Rehoim was a better ball-carrier than Morrison and a better passer than Wilcox but wasn't the strategist of either. There were times in '31 and '32 when Francis Conrad was the best of the flock but he wasn't as consistent as the others. Audacious Al was a better blocker than "Spud" and "Eeny" and may deserve the call on' alone. Anyway, it's an interesting point.

Come to think of it, there are several other old-timers beside Morrison and Wilcox who would figure in the Quakers.

Neither was there anything as-taining about improved Brown

Dumping Harvard, but with ambition and high rolling Cornell coming up, I fear that the Crimson is in for two shellackings in a

BUCKEYES BUCKLE

Ohio State is too weak in the middle of the line and its sophomore backfield is too uncertain to give the Buckeyes the nod in their battle with Southern California.

Georgia Tech rarely turns out a poor team, but Notre Dame's 52-0 wallop of a Kansas combination that edged out Texas was too convincing to allow anybody to pick anyone but the lads of the Golden Dome.

Duke figures to lug the ball too far against Colgate in Buffalo.

Texas Christian, perhaps the slickest team in the great southwest, appears to be a touchdown too capable for Temple in Philadelphie tonight.

Lafayette is likely to be smothered again by Brown in Providence.

Pittsburgh should have little or no trouble for its neighbor, Duquesne.

Purdue exhibited unmistakable class in getting over Detroit, but is likely to find Minnesota something else again in Minneapolis.

Michigan, back on the high road, will repel Chicago at Ann Arbor as it pleases.

Wisconsin, rapidly climbing the heights, has a little too much of everything for Iowa at Iowa City.

RICE PICKED OVER L.S.U.

Indiana revealed too much against Ohio State to have to worry about Illinois at Champaign.

Southern Methodist ought to beat Marquette easily enough in Chicago.

Missouri beat Colorado, 14-7, and Kansas State lost to Northwestern by three touchdowns, yet the Wildcats are being given a shaky call at Manhattan.

Rice was supposed to be one of the nation's leaders. The Owls haven't enjoyed any success to date, but I look for them to get going in time to shade a Louisiana State team which turned back Texas, 20-0.

It looks as though Texas can't beat anybody, so we're naming Baylor, the dark horse of the Southwest conference, is the choice over Arkansas.

Tennessee beat Clemson, 20-7.

Clemson beat Tulane, Tulane held Auburn to a scoreless tie for the third consecutive year. So there is nothing to do but select Tennessee over Auburn at Knoxville.

ABOUT TIME FOR HUSKIES

It's about time for Tulane to get going, and I have a hunch the Green Wave will gather enough momentum to nose out North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Kentucky has been having a lot of fun in breathers, but has no pushover in Vanderbilt. I like the Commodores.

Santa Clara is back with both feet, which gives it enough to out-gallop Texas A. and M. in San Francisco.

PROPOSITION 5 BOOSTED HERE

Residents of Orange county, generally, are solidly behind Proposition No. 5 on the November 8 election ballot because adoption of the measure will mean the saving of many thousands of dollars annually to the county and much enjoyment for the county's many fishing sportsmen, John H. Covington, executive secretary of the state park commission, division of the state department of natural resources, said today.

Covington is visiting in the country in the interests of the proposition's passage. He says that fish and game legislation in the state produces some of the hottest controversies ever precipitated before the legislature although it is not generally known to the voters of the state. Many fistfights result from such legislation, he pointed out.

End Reduction Plants

Proposition No. 5, known as the "fish" vote or proposal, if the "yes" vote be sufficient at the election, will mark the end of the floating sardine reduction plants which operate off the coast and outside of state jurisdiction, Covington stated.

"The sardine keeps the big fish hanging around our waters because he wants the sardine to eat," Covington said. "If there are no sardines, there will be no big fish and no fishing. Some years ago, the state imposed limitations on the use of fish in reduction plants which use the sardine in the tens of thousands of tons to make fish meal fertilizer, oils and other sardine products. With the limitations in effect, many reduction plant operators establish floating plants off shore to avoid the state laws."

Will Be Regulated

"Proposition No. 5 will provide that the fishing boats which serve the floating plants must obtain a permit to operate, from the state fish and game commission," Covington continued.

"Proponents of the measure say that, with its adoption, floating plant operators will be forced to come to shore and compete with shore plants or stay where they are and be ergulized through the boats which serve them. To bring additional revenue to the state and to stop the exodus of big fish for the sake of those who like to fish—including thousands of tourists who come here to fish—the measure should be adopted."

Brothers Reunite
Here After 50 Years Apart

Fred Price of Santa Ana and his brother, Ed Price, world traveler, who said "good-bye" to one another 50 years ago at a railroad station in Oskaloosa, Kan., were still greeting one another today, talking over a half century of life they lived—separately.

For, after they said "good-bye," October 8, 1888, Fred took his bride on a honeymoon, Ed began a tour of the world which lasted 18 years. And tomorrow, Fred and his wife will be celebrating their golden wedding anniversary while Ed, sitting beside them, will be celebrating his birthday. He was 74 years old this week.

Astonished at Word

Ed found his brother in Santa Ana two weeks ago for the first time in 50 years although he has lived in San Luis Obispo 30 years, Fred, in Santa Ana 27 years. And both thought the other dead.

The gladness of the greeting has a background of sadness, too, for Ed had just taken the ashes of his late wife back to Oskaloosa. There he learned to his astonishment that Fred was still alive and living in Santa Ana. At tomorrow's two-way anniversary celebration, Ed will meet for the first time, some 60 other relatives.

Woman Opposes Mother Over Will

Mrs. Catherine Sinnott Merriman, of Pasadena, came to court here today to oppose her mother, Mrs. Margaret B. Sinnott, of San Clemente, in a move to probate her father's will.

The daughter claims that her father, the late Clarence C. Sinnott, was of unsound mind and asks that his will, which leaves a $25,000 legacy to the widow, be set aside. The will, dated February 5, 1931, leaves $600 to the daughter and $500 to a son, explaining that they had been provided for from the estate of their grandfather, Joseph F. Sinnott, who died in 1905. The widow's legacy also represented an interest in the estate of Joseph Sinnott.

Mrs. Sinnott's petition to probate her husband's will, however, makes no mention of the legacy in listing assets of the estate, including only a $200 equity in a lot at San Clemente, and a $200 equity in an automobile.

Mrs. Merriman's contest of the will also includes the objection that the will was not properly witnessed.

RUTH HOME CARES FOR YOUNG WOMEN AND BABIES; ASKS AID

The Register concerning the eight agencies that will receive support from the Santa Ana Community Chest. Today's article concerns Ruth Home of Los Angeles, whose share of the $33,830 fund is $480.

One of the unsung but vital agencies that receives support from the Santa Ana Community Chest is the Ruth Home in Los Angeles whose mission it is to give hospitalization and assistance to girls and their babies who have been victims of social diseases.

In a tiny frame house in Los Angeles back in 1924 the California Protective Society started the first Ruth Home. For seven years the Home took in those unfortunate upon whom society had placed under a ban and assisted them in re-establishing themselves both bodily and mentally.

122 Babies Saved

During this time 122 babies were saved from blindness and 289 girls were given a new lease on life and restored to health. In the first eight months of 1938 the Home gave help to more than 1,000 cases, of which 320 were girls, 533 children, and 161 babies. And the scope of the Ruth Home is constantly on the increase.

In 1931 the Home moved into a new $125,000 hospital, home and school with facilities for caring for children from the age of two to 12 added to the original plan and a total capacity of 135 girls and children and 15 babies. In the following years the school and arts and crafts building was added to the plant. Two years later a $45,000 school for children of the home was added to the general plan.

Only One Kind

According to Miss Ruth Clifford, director of the social service department, the Ruth Home was started because there is no other institution in Southern California specializing in this type of work.

Other assistance agencies have drawn strict barriers against those who have been afflicted with social diseases because of the contagious nature of venereal diseases, Miss Clifford said.

Any Other Ailment

In speaking of the scope of the activity of Ruth Home Miss Clifford said, "Any girl, child or baby in our care receives medical attention for social disease as well as any other ailment, under staff physicians. A corps of consulting surgeons, physicians, optometrists, dentists, and other specialists cooperate with us to fill all required needs. Surgery other than tonsillectomy is done at Los Angeles County General Hospital. Venereal maternity cases are delivered at Ruth Home."

A corps, headed by two Registered Social Service workers, is kept busy investigating new cases, following up those released, and taking care of the multitudinous duties necessary in connection with active cases.

A close check is made with the girls for a period of two to three years after their release and in most instances a friendly relationship is established that remains alive indefinitely.

RELIGION DISCUSSED

With John Schirer and Dave Sheppard scheduled to lead the discussion, the recently formed Youth Problems group will hold its initial meeting Monday at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., according to Ralph C. Snedley, organizer.

The subject to be discussed by the representative gathering of youths will be "The Relation of Science and Religion." A dinner meeting will precede the discussion, beginning at 6:15 p. m.

Drive Started In Orange County To Defeat Single Tax Measure

Members of the executive committee of the Orange County Council Against Single Tax today had begun a concerted drive in vigorous opposition to adoption of the single tax measure at the November election, it was announced this morning by James A. Smiley, of Orange, who is chairman of the group.

Smiley was named chairman by C. C. Teague of Santa Paula, chairman of the state-wide council, and who also named G. A. Raymer, of this city, as secretary of the local council.

Educational Drive

Under auspices of the state-wide council, county units are being formed throughout California to conduct a campaign of education among voters, warning them of the danger of this proposal.

"The single tax plan, which has been rejected by voters of California at six previous elections, now is being offered under the guise of repealing the sales tax, and certain other taxes, and substituting therefore the single tax law over a ten-year period," Smiley declared.

Through the county committees it is proposed to contact every voter and warn him of the threat to the public school system, which is supported largely through the sales tax, and to the financial structure of the state if this measure is adopted.

More than 30 state-wide organizations have joined forces with the State-wide Council Against Single Tax to combat the measure.

Leading Citizens Aid

Leading citizens representing all communities of Orange county have joined with the Orange county council to assist in the campaign. Members of the executive committee, in addition to Messrs. Smiley and Raymer, include: Ray Adkinson, Mrs. Felton B. Browning, W. F. Croddy, Mrs. F. C. Rowland, Marshall Secrest, Santa Ana; C. Stanley Chapman, Fullerton; L. P. Halderman, Anaheim; Paul A. Dessert Bridge Affair
Is Compliment To June Bride

Combining their plans for a charmingly intimate little affair early this week, Mrs. Joseph Daniger and Miss Verne Wells received a group of friends at Daniger's in compliment to Mrs. Grant Sylvester, (Esther Jean Davis), a bride of last June.

Announcement of the marriage was made some time after the ceremony itself, so that Mrs. Sylvester, a teacher in the city schools, has been receiving congratulations from her host of friends since the opening of school in September.

When party guests arrived at Daniger's, they found all in readiness for the serving of dessert. Pink tapers and flowers adorned the tables.

Later on, the group went to the Daniger apartment for bridge play, recording scores on pretty talles of wedding bell design. Winning prizes were Mrs. Edna Fowler, Miss Margaret Grant and Miss May Pulham, who held the two high and low scores. Mrs. Sylvester's gifts from her assembled friends included a piece of silver in her chosen Chantilly pattern, and some pretty flower holders.

In the group with Mrs. Daniger and Miss Wells were the honor guest, Mrs. Sylvester and the Misses Clarice Marx, May Pulham, Peari Camblin, Margaret Grant, Isabel Lindsay, Elfreda Biggan, Gladys Campbell and Mesdames J. J. Williams, Adelaide Lowe and Edna Fowler.

Laguna Beach Draws Club For Luncheon

Mrs. Don Hillyard was hostess to members of her bridge club Wednesday afternoon, receiving her guests at Cafe Las Ondas in Laguna Beach. Yellow 'mums formed effective table decorations.

Mrs. Arthur Trawick and Mrs. Claude Sleeter held the two highest scores in bridge play, while Mrs. W. K. Hillyard won consolation award.

Guests were Mrs. L. N. Sherrard, Mrs. W. K. Hillyard and Mrs. Frank Curran. Members present with the hostess were Mesdames V. L. Motry, Claude Sleeter, Arthur Trawick, Frank Brigante, Francis Edmunds, Joseph Harless, Jack Miller and Elmer Sullivan.

Girls' Ebell Project Decided Upon At First Club Meeting

Selection of a club project was of primary importance yesterday afternoon when Girls' Ebell society held its first meeting of the year in the home of the president, Miss Barbara Tucker, 702 East Santa Clara avenue.

The project selected by the girls was Ebell Day Nursery, and they will aid the general society in that valuable work. Money-making plans were considered, and decision was reached to hold an ice cream social in the clubhouse on Thursday night, November 2. This will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and a very nominal admission price will entitle patrons not only to their refreshments, but an evening of gracing her home.

Present in addition to the two honorees, Mrs. Hurd and Mrs. Kisner, were Mesdames John Adams, John W. Fraley, Herbert Hayson, Ernest Hill, Guy Maties, Rex McGill, Herbert Parsons, Cecil Sauer, Josie Wilson, Forrest White, Cotton Bennett, William Humphrey, and the hostess, Mrs. Spencer.

Club members will be entertained at their meeting on October 20, by Mrs. Wilson, 2064 South Van Ness avenue.

Golden Wedding Day Observed In Roseville

Since Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Fowler, 531 Linwood avenue, were unable to go north to Roseville for the golden wedding observance of Mr. Fowler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Fowler, they were especially happy yesterday to receive details of the happy celebration given the date, September 27.

The T. H. Fowlers were well known in this city, their home for many years. Mr. Fowler was one of the leading contractors and not only built the Bell theater, but operated it for a number of years. It stood on the site now occupied by the West Coast theater. He also built what is called the Spurgeon auditorium, now the Yost theater building on Spurgeon street. He is still active in building operations in Roseville, where he and Mrs. Fowler moved some nine years ago. They were married in Springfield, Mo., September 27, 1883.

Three of their children, Mrs. H. E. Lucas, Mrs. F. Jones and Royal Fowler, and several grandchildren live in Roseville. Their Santa Ana relatives include with the Claude A. Fowlers, the latter's daughter, Mrs. Raymond Simpson and her little family, Raymond Jr., Gary and Carolyn Joyce, great-grandchildren of the golden wedding pair.

Miss Tucker also made two appointments, Miss Muriel Walker, historian, and Miss Patsy Miller, reporter. Social committee appointments were the Misses Patsy Miller and Peggy Holloway, publicity; Marjorie Wall, music; Jane Hoiles, decorations, and Anne Bell, refreshments.

Announcement was made that the club will help the tuberculosis society again this year by filling and stamping envelopes. The club will meet October 12 in the home of Peggy Holloway, 213½ South Birch street, to begin this work.

Music and Play Review Follow Travel Talk At The Barn

Opera in Paris, Shakespearean plays in Stratford-On-Avon, grand opera in Rome—all of these were discussed in modified "theatrical tour of Europe" upon which Thomas H. Glenn led members of Community Players' association last night at their October program in The Barn.

While his talk was centered on such experiences, the speaker introduced various details of interest, reminiscent of his past summer trip abroad. Especially was this true in his description of the Rome of today under dictatorship, as contrasted with Imperial Rome under the Caesars.

Miss Helen Wieseman as program chairman, had planned excellent music and a clever play review in addition to Mr. Glenn's talk. She introduced Perry Bogart, new director of music at First M. E. church, and Mrs. Bogart. The latter played accompaniments for the solo group sung by Mr. Bogart in a rich and melodious bass. His numbers were Schumann's "Two Grenadiers," "Asleep in the Deep" (Perrie), and the humorous "Big Bass Viol."

Later in the evening he consented to sing "Friend O' Mine."

The Kaufman-Hart stage success, "I'd Rather Be Right," was chosen by Mona Summers Smith for one of her fine reviews, and closed the program on a cheerful note that extended throughout the social hour. Mrs. Harry Brackett and Mrs. Emmett Elliott, in charge of the refreshment hour, were assisted by Mr. Brackett, John Colwell and other men of the association, in serving coffee and doughnuts.

Preceding program features, Mrs. David Collins (Marion Graaf), Barn chairman, had a few matters of business for the association to consider, calling attention, among other events to the play dates of October 21 and 22 when "Counselor-At-Law" will be staged in Ebell auditorium. Mrs. Robert Horn announced various dates for neighboring theater groups, Monrovia, Riverside and Laguna Beach and told of the groups from these cities and from Los Angeles that will attend the approaching play.

Sprays of red-berried shrubbery gave an autumnal touch to decorations at tables where dinner was served. Mrs. Sam Butler assisted the hostess.

During a short business meeting, attention was given to the benefit dinner which Mothers' Circle of Job's Daughters will hold next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the temple. Remainder of the time was devoted to bridge, with prizes going to Mrs. M. W. Ball and Frank Sawyer, who scored high; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Christian, low.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames William Dean, Frank Sawyer, Guy Christian, J. C. Rogers; Mesdames Sam Butler, M. W. Ball, C. M. Johnson, R. E. McBurney and the Misses Joephine Butler, Marjorie Ball, Adelaide Johnson, Lorraine Lewis and Carolyn Rogers.

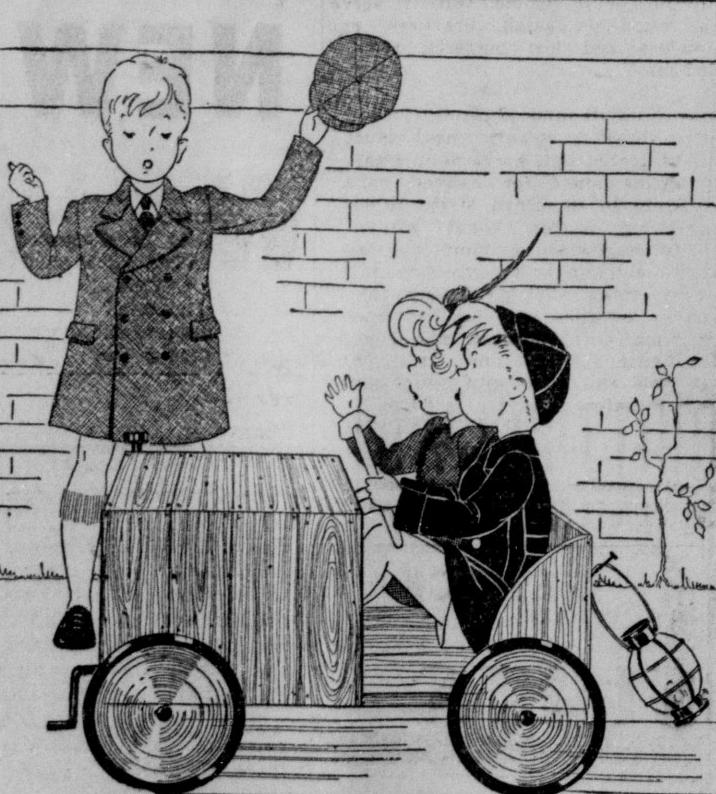

The Deans will be hosts at the next meeting, November 2.

Pink And White Theme Marks Birthday Dinner

Pink and white was the decorative motif carried out for a dinner party at which Mrs. Mildred Morilla entertained recently in her home, 1310 Poinsettia street in celebration of the 18th birthday of her daughter, Miss Doris Morilla.

Pink and white asters centered the candle-lit table at which the young people were seated. Decorations on a pretty birthday cake featured the pink and white theme.

The honoree received gifts from the group, which included the Misses Dorothy Schneider, Lucille Andrew, Eleanor Morilla, Naomi Hawkins and Mrs. M. E. Crumley Jr., Santa Ana; the Misses Frances Wallace, Brea; Margaret Hubbard, Artesia; Betty Reed, Orange; May Ferry, Laguna Beach.

Autumn vacations are still in effect among the club members, so there were many absences. Remaining members however, spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening of needlework and chat. Mrs. Blair Little, their president, brought her copy of "Designing Women" and summarized its clever contents in interesting manner.

As the evening drew to a close, Mrs. Read served a sandwich and salad course to her guests who were Mrs. Little, Mrs. George Schroff, the Misses Thelma Hicks, Violet Bolton and Faye Morris.

Luncheon was served at a table centered with yellow 'mums, while nut cups and other decorative details suggested an autumnal motif.

Mrs. A. F. Lane and Mrs. G. N. Coon won prizes for their high and low scores in bridge. Others present were the hostess and Mesdames Peter McIntosh, Charles Hawthorne, Mary Hertert, Ermie Swan, C. R. Walter and E. J. Grothier.

Mrs. Coon will entertain the group October 20.

Arbor Vitae club members were brought together for their first affair since summer vacation yesterday afternoon when Mrs. J. C. Smith was hostess at the Doris K.

Luncheon was served at a table centered with yellow 'mums, while nut cups and other decorative details suggested an autumnal motif.

Mixing Bowl
BY ANN MEREDITH

Every woman who keeps house finds her food budget getting thin toward the end of the month. That's the time when meat dishes of the stripe I am telling about today, step in and do their stuff. This one uses "minute" steaks, thin pieces of round steak, y' know, with a good stuffing and a grand rich gravy that uses two canned soups. Now for the recipe.

Stuffed Minute Steaks Baked in Tomato-Mushroom Sauce

Large minute steaks, 1 for each serving, (or two for men).

Sage and onion dressing (2 cups for eight steaks).

Bacon fat to brown meat rolls, 1 can tomato and one can cream of mushroom soup.

1 cup boiling water to dilute combined soups.

Salt and pepper.

You'll need 3 cups of grated soft crumbs mixed with 1 large ground onion, 1-3 teaspoon sage, some salt and pepper. Add a few spoonfuls of milk to moisten slightly and fry briefly in bacon fat. "Butter" each steak with dressing, roll up and pin with wood picks. Dredge steak rolls with flour and brown quickly in hot fat. Transfer to a casserole and pour in half of the combined soup liquid. Bake in a fast oven for 30 minutes, then lower heat to "slow" and bake until the meat is very tender. Add rest of liquid as necessary.

All that oven heat must be utilized, so bake pieces of winter squash, potatoes, and an apple tart. Let the salad be torn lettuce and celery dressed with olive oil and vinegar.

It's tantalizing to read about all this good food and then have a caution paragraph stare you in the face. But, if you weigh too much, caution, in what you eat must be your watch word. Let us supply the caution and its excellent results by way of our Safe and Sane reducing diet. It is free, just write for it and please enclose return address, stamped envelope.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Tamale Ring With Creamed Tuna

2 cups cream-style canned corn
1 cup yellow corn meal
1 onion, chopped fine
2 teaspoons salt
1 can of tomato sauce
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup rich milk
1-3 cup melted butter

II
Two 7 ounce cans of tuna, flaked and heated with 2 cupfuls of well seasoned cream sauce, or two cans of cream of mushroom soup diluted with milk.

— a tested recipe.

Combine everything in part I. Pour into a buttered ring mould, place mould in a pan of hot water and bake 1 hour in a 325 degree oven. Unmold on hot platter, fill center with hot creamed tuna and serve balance of sauce in a bowl.

This excellent dish has my hearty endorsement. I have served it for buffet suppers and found the dish ample for 10 people. With it serve a vegetable salad, crackers, rye wafers and hot buttered toasted fingers.

Bisque of Tuna

When a scanty meal must be pieced out, go to your emergency shelf for canned tuna and chicken broth. Melt 1 tablespoon butter, blend with 1 tablespoon flour, pour in 1 can of chicken broth and rich milk to make a creamy soup base. Cook this base 15 minutes, then season and add 1-2 cup finely flaked tuna fish. Stir well and pour into soup cups or plates.

ANN MEREDITH.

Sensational New "No-Scrub" Soap —

NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL Washes Clothes UP TO 15% WHITER

New High-Test OXYDOL contains a revolutionary new ingredient that makes it give up to TWICE THE SUDS even in hard water . . . safe as ever for washable colors, fabrics and hands

NOW comes a sensational new advance in soap-making to prove again that "the wonders of science never cease." An amazing new ingredient that makes High-Test OXYDOL far whiter washing, in tub or washing machine. Yet an ingredient that keeps it safe as ever for washable colors—safe for washable fabrics and hands!

Tested against old-fashioned bar and package soaps in hard water, new High-Test Oxydol does these remarkable things:

(1) Washes white clothes up to 15% whiter, as shown by scientific Tintometer records. (2) Gives up to TWICE as much suds—suds that stand up to three times longer.

Colors Stay Surprisingly Fresh

New High-Test Oxydol is amazingly safe for washable colored things. In laboratory tests, sheer cotton prints washed as many as 175 times in new High-Test Oxydol suds showed no perceptible sign of fading—came surprisingly fresh!

In tub washing—High-Test Oxydol suds dirt loosens in as little as 10 minutes. No scrubbing, no boiling, as with less modern soaps. Washed this way, clothes last 2 to 3 times longer from the standpoint of washday wear and tear compared with old-fashioned methods.

In washing machines—new High-Test Oxydol soaks dirt loose while the washer is running—gives you DOUBLE-ACTION wash. No need to waste time scrubbing "extra dirty" spots to get clothes really clean. Saves work—saves trouble—saves time.

NEWPORT BEACH EBELL CLUB
HOLDS FIRST FALL MEETING

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 7.—Approximately 75 members attended the opening meeting of the Ebell club yesterday at the clubhouse. A program feature was the appearance of the Mills Duo, Elizabeth and Harlow Mills who presented folk songs of the countries of Bulgaria and Roumania.

Heads Players

Mrs. Rosemary Bennett will direct the activities of the Brea Community players this year as president. The organization will be limited to 20 active members with an unlimited list of associate members. The group will specialize in one act plays this season.

PLAN CHEST CHECK AT LUNCH MONDAY

With the Community Chest campaign now actively under way in all departments attention of leaders and workers will be centered on the first report luncheon meeting Monday noon at campaign headquarters, when results to that time will be tabulated and the standings of the various units announced.

The workers will bring the results of their efforts since Wednesday night's "kick off" dinner and will complete their accounting before the luncheon meeting. Reports turned in up to 12:30 p.m. will be included in the tabulation, each day.

A feature of the daily luncheon programs will be "taking of the campaign temperature." Ten huge thermometers back of the speakers' table will record the daily percentages of each of the nine campaign departments, as well as the total for the campaign as a whole. A short but interesting program is promised for each day by E. H. Leyton, report luncheon chairman.

The first name for the honor roll of workers reaching 100 per cent of quota was received at campaign headquarters yesterday afternoon when Harold E. Nelson, captain of team No. 5 F 4, reported his full quota raised. In addition to reach 100 per cent of quota as a business district captain, Mr. Nelson also reported 100 per cent results as chairman at the Grand Central Market.

The honor roll of 100 per cent workers and organization subscriptions, will be announced each day, according to Orlyn N. Robertson.

NEWPORT BEACH EBELL CLUB
HOLDS FIRST FALL MEETING

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 7.—Approximately 75 members attended the opening meeting of the Ebell club yesterday at the clubhouse. A program feature was the appearance of the Mills Duo, Elizabeth and Harlow Mills who presented folk songs of the countries of Bulgaria and Roumania.

PULLERTON, Oct. 7.—Merriment will mark the 13th annual show of the Fullerton Kiwanis club at the Fullerton Union High school auditorium the evening of October 13. "Petticoat Fever" is the title of the production. It is described as a farce comedy of the far north with highly amusing lines and incidents from start to finish.

Every year the Kiwanis club stages a show for the benefit of its scholarship loan fund of which Harry V. Williams of the First National bank is chairman. The club this year has loaned about $1000 and since the inception of the plan about $7000 has been loaned. This money is advanced to students of the junior college who wish to continue their studies but are handicapped for lack of funds. At least 80 young people have been aided to date. The net proceeds of the annual show go partly to the loan fund and partly to the boys' and girls' work which is also one of the main objectives of Kiwanis International.

The cast includes Mrs. Charles Wickett, Mrs. Cameron Sparks, Mrs. Colin Baker, Mrs. Don Cruickshank, Cliff Jarrett, Charles Wickett, William Heger, Ray Boston, S. Oliver Long and Grant Brown. The chairman of the show committee is Harry Welsh, in charge of ticket sales is Otto Evans.

33 SEAMEN RESCUED FROM WRECKED SHIP

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla., Oct. 7.—(UP)—The Tanker O. M. Bernuth headed for Port Everglades today with 33 seamen rescued from another tanker, the E. J. Bullock, which exploded and sank 25 miles east of Dry Tortugas yesterday with a probable loss of three lives.

The coast guard here expected to meet the O. M. Bernuth off Port Everglades about 1 p.m. and take off the survivors.

Missing after the explosion in the forward part of the 435 foot Standard Oil Company tanker shook the ship were Thomas Shepherd, boatswain, and Charles Austin, seaman. B. L. Chavez, cook aboard the E. J. Bullock, was injured and died while being taken to a Key West hospital.

On the same program is "Time Out for Murder," one of the new Roving Reporter series featuring a cast headed by Gloria Stuart, Michael Whalen, Douglas Powley, Robert Kellard, Chick Chandler and Jane Darwell.

The melodrama of the story is generously sprinkled with comedy which at times leans toward the screwball, yet it is so shrewdly injected that it serves to maintain exciting plot motivation, according to review notices. The story concerns the fortunes of a newspaper reporter and his cameraman who act as ace crime detectors for their paper, and a girl collection agency gunshooe.

TRIGGER-MAN IN KANSAS CITY STATION MASSACRE EXECUTED

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Adam Richetti a professional killer, who, with leveled machine gun, helped to mow down five men in the Kansas City Union Station massacre of 1933, died in the lethal chamber today, murmuring: "What did I do to deserve this?"

Richetti was one of the most vicious criminals of his time, one of the last survivors of the killing kidnappers and bandits all but exterminated by G-men and other authorities.

Screams Innocence

A few minutes after midnight he was led into the lethal chamber of the Missouri state penitentiary and strapped to the chair. He blubbered, declared his innocence. He had watched many men die, some from over his blazing machine gun, others—and these included his erstwhile chieftain, Pretty Boy Floyd—from the bullets of sheriffs and G-men which missed him, but he did not die prettily. As the door closed on him, he screamed, and through the observation window, witnesses saw him screaming and cringing in the chair. A few seconds later the gas rose from beneath him and choked his life out.

Richetti died at 29 and had been a criminal notorious in the southwest for some 10 years. But he did not gain national notoriety until he teamed up with "Pretty Boy" Floyd, a killer from the Cookson hills of Oklahoma who, despite his deprivations, was leading a charmed life.

Bungled Delivery

In 1933, their pal, Frank Nash, was arrested in Hot Springs, Ark., by federal agents and was taken to Kansas City by train.

Richetti, Floyd and Verne Miller decided to rescue him. When Nash, manacled to federal agents and surrounded by federal agents, stepped off the train and out of the Kansas City union terminal, they were met by a blaze of machine gun fire. The gunners were careless. Not only did they kill Nash's four guards, but Nash.

Miller a year later was killed by gangster associates near Detroit, and two years later, "Pretty Boy" and Richetti were trapped by G-men near Wellsville, N.Y. "Pretty Boy" was killed and Richetti was captured.

Richetti insisted he was innocent of any participation in the massacre, but the state produced a conclusive case at his trial in Kansas City and he was convicted.

Board Approves Franchise Plan

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 7.—(UP)—A mental examination was ordered today for Mrs. Martin Kenny, winner of a $12,500 "consolation prize" in Toronto's $500,000 "baby race," when she appeared in police court on an arson charge. The case was adjourned one week pending the result of the examination.

She had screamed from her cell that the charges were "lies, all lies."

Mrs. Kenny, short and plump but hard to catch, was arrested yesterday after a 75 yard chase and held in $3000 bail.

The arrest followed an investigation of the latest of five fires in various houses occupied by the Kenny family.

Give Once for All... Enough for All...

Court Notes

Charging nonsupport, Mrs. Gladys Stowe today had filed suit in superior court for a divorce from Kenneth Stowe, taxi driver.

F. Mizusaka of Katella, today appealed to superior court from a recent judgment by Justice Charles Kuchel of Anaheim, awarding $307.24 damages to J. E. Trail in connection with a truck collision on Katella road March 28, 1937.

DRIVERS PAY FINES

Three speeders and a boulevard stop violator who pleaded guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday were fined. The speeders and fines are Ralph Barnes, Route 1, Costa Mesa, $2; Violet Watson, Buena Park, $2, and Henry Etterly, Route 4, Santa Ana, $5. Owen K. Johnson, Lemon Grove, was fined $5 for the boulevard stop offense.

Employed as an usher at Walker's theater, Don Cave went home earlier than usual last night to get some needed sleep and rest.

And while he rested, his name was drawn in the Broadway theater's Fortune's Wheel event. If he had been at the theater he would have been $100 richer today.

Freed After Paying

Schirley H. Smith, 26, 806 South

Broadway, was freed from custody today, a few minutes after he was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Bob Steinberger and A. W. Fullerton when he provided necessary funds to support his family. He had been wanted on a non-support charge.

THE NIGHTMARE EUROPE WANTS TO FORGET

The Breaking Up of Families

They're home together now—that cheerful Tommy Atkins at left, and the smiling wife and their baby at right. But when the picture was taken he was answering his sergeant's roll-call, and was ready to fight for Great Britain on an unknown front. She was fulfilling the age-old duty of warrior's wives—sending her soldier away with a smile. A forced smile, maybe—but one that turned to tears of joy as news of peace came.

The Call to Arms The Frantic Clamor for Gas Masks

Knowing that they, as well as uniformed troops, might be victims of modern war's indiscriminating rain of death, Czech civilians, as pictured above, read with foreboding the mobilization orders posted about Prague.

Some macabre humorist sought enlistment in the army because, he said, "the safest place in modern war is in the trenches." And these British women feared the truth of the grim jest. They feared the terror of blasting air raids and poison gas bombs. So they flocked in scores to the numerous gas mask distributing depots, such as this one in a London school, and brought their little boys and girls to be fitted with those symbols of modern horror—"child's sized" gas masks. That's why, when the die was cast for peace, their dread gave way to hysterical joy.

The Flight of Refugees

When Germany's battalions massed along the Sudetenland border, the Czechoslovakian family pictured above fled from the threatening war. Though actual war was averted, their former homes now belong to Germany through Chancellor Hitler's "peaceful conquest." And they, with 75,000 others in similar plight, are stranded in Prague. The Czech government has appealed to Great Britain and France for a loan to provide care for such refugees.

The Conversion of Cities Into Battlefields

The battle "front" in today's wars is anywhere within range of an enemy's bombing planes. So Londoners, knowing full well that their fat, sprawling city would be an initial objective the minute war started, sped frantic measures for civilian protection. Pictured above are workmen busy scarring the face of beautiful Hyde Park with zig-zag trenches. The trenches were not needed, but Britons will long remember their forecasts of air war's rain of terror.

The Rush to Shelter

War-time trenches used to be on fighting lines. Now, trenches are built in cities, alongside homes and schools and churches. For war today has no mercy on non-combatants. They are taught to cower in the ground like hunted animals. And that is the grim lesson the Czech family, pictured above, is learning right in Prague.

The Steady Tramp of Feet Marching Off to War

Anxious to be with her soldier until the last precious minute, the woman in the photo above marched right along with these Czechoslovakian troops in Prague as they moved off to the Sudetenland—to the war they were sure was coming. Neither she, nor they, dared to hope that human efforts could avert the disaster. It was averted, and the lives of thousands of such sturdy youths as are pictured here, were ransomed.

A number of searchers have brought jelly fish to the chamber of commerce office in the belief it was ambergris.

Secretary W. H. Gallienne is so well posted on the subject of ambergris with all of the deposits made at the offices that he has been called upon to talk on the subject at the Toastmasters' club meeting next Tuesday.

FISH OUT OF WATER

Katherine was not doing well in college. She had not been too successful in the lower schools, but by dint of much pushing and pulling she had been sent on with the usual diplomas and prayers. At the end of the first year in college she seemed worse off than ever. She planned to do noble deeds, but she never got beyond the planning.

"How about your preparation for tomorrow?"

"It's all done," or "I'm just going to do it," and she would bury herself in a story, a veritable child's story of overcoming and magical success.

Katherine liked the boys, and they would call on her for a few times, then vanish, which made her feel perfectly miserable for days until a new one appeared. Then she would cheer up until he followed the others. Just why this happened nobody understood, much less Katherine. She could begin, but she could not make a good ending, ever, no matter what it was she put her hand to.

"I think," said her mother, "that she wants a home and children of her own, but why can't she make friends with the young men?"

"Is there no young man who seems to want to stick?"

"Yes, there was one, but he was out of the question."

"The wrong side of the tracks?"

"Quite. But she seemed to like him just the same. It was I who stopped his coming. I didn't want her to get attached to somebody that couldn't live up to our standard."

"Does Katherine live up to it?"

"Not exactly. That's why I am worried and have come to see what could be done for her. We have tried to bring her up exactly as we would if she was our very own. We adopted her when she was 10 days old; she knows no other home. But we aren't getting anywhere."

Nor likely to. You can't take a fish out of water and teach him to swim. When a child is born into the world he comes trailing clouds of inheritance with him. They may be glorious, and they may be drab enough. The point is that they are his ocean. In them he must swim, and grow, and become. It is on his own terms that we educate him, not on ours.

When one adopts a child, or brings one into the world, one must consider what it is he has brought with him, and hope on that; have faith on that; build on that. When we take a child whose inheritance is not in any degree similar to our own and try to make him in our own image we are headed for failure.

Many a fine child has been spoiled by that mistaken effort. If his own inheritance had been accepted and built upon, he might have done very well. But he could do nothing when his elements were rejected and he was forced to accept that of other people. Take the child you have and develop the good in him. He has plenty if you once reach it. This girl might have made a good child's nurse, or housemaid, or cook, whatever her inheritance granted, but she could not grow according to the standard of the home into which she was adopted. Give the fish his water.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled "Bedtime Troubles" in which he tells parents how to overcome irritability in children. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER TO MUSIC

CAST OF CHARACTERS
MYRNA DOMBEY—heroine, wife of the sensational swing band leader.
ROBERT TAFT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.
ANNE LESTER—Myrna's closest friend.
DANIE FEELEY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombeys' murder.

Yesterday Tait and Anne start out from the country where Myrna met her death. They find that after the shooting there is Myrna's bag with a gun in it.

CHAPTER V
TAIT turned quickly to see how Anne would receive the news that there had been a revolver in Myrna's bag. Even in the dim light from the instrument panel he could see her face blanche.

"That's—not true!"

"It is, though," Tait said. "Did Myrna own a gun?"

"Never that I knew of," Anne answered quickly. "Someone was trying to make her seem the guilty one."

"I hope you're right. But shooting Ludden Dombeys and getting that gun into Myrna's bag before the lights went on would be a neat trick. And, if she wasn't implicated in some way, why has she run away?"

Anne sighed. "Heaven knows why. But it isn't because she had anything to do with it. I know that. I'd bet my very life on it."

They lapsed into silence, and Bob Tait pressed the coupe hard. They had long since left gasoline stations and roadside stands. Farmhouses were growing fewer. Soon they were in a country of vast rolling hills, with an occasional tree standing eerily in the darkness.

"I've forgotten there was country like this," Tait said suddenly. "Reminds me of when I was a kid. But I liked it better in the daytime, then—and I think I still prefer some light on it."

ANNE shuddered involuntarily. "It is lonely. I wonder if I haven't been wrong, getting us out here."

"I'm afraid you have, pal. I can't imagine Myrna rushing out here in a rented car or a cab—to stay alone in a shack."

"She wouldn't be afraid. Oh—I hope we're right."

"And so do I," breathed Tait fervently. "If this is a wild goose

BEST GRIDIRON SEATS AT ENDS

The best seats at a football game are not on the 50-yard line but are high in the stands at either end of the field or directly behind the goal posts.

This was only one of the revelations disclosed by Sportscaster Frank Bull at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club yesterday afternoon at the Masonic temple.

"Discovery of the advantages of being at one end of the field came at one of the first broadcasts of a football game ever made," Bull said. "All the available space in the center of the field was taken by the press boxes and the sportscaster was obliged to utilize the end of the field."

Large Crew Required

"Being on one end of the field it is possible to watch the holes in the line open and to see the action of the line. If one is directly opposite the players they become

Frances Willard

Approximately 775 students are enrolled in Willard, it was revealed today by Mrs. Dorothy Weakley, secretary. There are 256 pupils in the seventh grade, 242 eighth grade students, and 271 have enrolled for the ninth grade course.

Three new additions to the faculty list have been made this year. Miss Mary Schott from Stanford University is teaching Spanish and social science. John H. Dickey, from Logan elementary school, attended La Verne College and did post graduate work at U. S. C. Dickey teaches social science and mathematics. Miss Ruth Fitz, former Jefferson teacher, is a member of the English and social science department.

A confused jumble of figures."

A crew of 12 to 15 men are required to broadcast a major football game, Bull said. Hardest work comes when a coach substitutes a full team and the sportscaster is supposed to have the names of 22 players in a split second.

Members of the crew at the field include a "mixer" who controls the volume of sound coming over the air, a technician, and two men on the sidelines who assist in getting information. In addition to all these there are technicians and control men in the main studio.

A. I. Mellenthin was program chairman for the day and introduced the speaker who was presented by the Associated Oil company. Don Jerome presided at the meeting.

Miss Mary Jane Steel, student government adviser, revealed recently that she expects to appoint several new safeties within the next few weeks as several of the former officers have moved.

An initiation was held for new members of the Nos Amici club, Wednesday September 21, at the home of Sara Jean Burkett, 2311 Santiago street. Following the initiation, plans were discussed for future projects to be taken up this coming year. Dues will be 50 cents, the group decided.

Those initiated included Margaret Lockett, Bonnie Lewis, Beth Thorndike, Frances Nall, Bernadine Curran, Marilyn Bear, Betty Platt, Pauline Klech, Jean Hunter, Peggy Paul, and Eloise Revill. Old members present included Maxine Hillyard, Louise Kenyon, Janet McFadden, Iris McCoy, Janet Coffing, and Sara Jean Burkett, hostess.

Doris Erwin was elected president of the Eighth Grade girls glee club at the first meeting of the year, September 19. Lorraine Morris is vice-president; Maxine Bird, secretary; Helen Carpenter, treasurer, and Mary Dorman, class reporter. Beverly Russell was appointed roll caller. Arda May Jewell was selected accompanist by Mrs. Esther Jean Sylvester, director. Ivie Jean Williams was appointed to serve on a uniform committee.

Jacqueline Cochran, who won the Bendix Trophy in the Bendix transcontinental race, was the first woman ever to win it. In this Miss Cochran outpoured nine other planes flown by men.

Blanding, Smedley Go To Parley

Ted Blanding and Ralph Smedley will attend the quarterly district meeting of the International Toastmasters tonight at Huntington Park as representatives from Santa Ana. The 46 other clubs in district No. 1 also are expected to have representatives at the conclave.

The young musician will be remembered for her brilliant debut before local audiences last December, when she appeared with the federal orchestra, captivating a large audience with her mature interpretation of the extremely technical "Concerto in E Minor" Mendelssohn. For the coming event, she has selected to play Saint-Saëns' "Concerto No. 3, opus 61."

A pupil of Carlton Wood, veteran Long Beach teacher, Gloria has attracted the notice of musical authorities throughout Southern California ever since her recital debut, at the age of nine, under the sponsorship of the Women's Committee of the San Diego Philharmonic in 1934. Such notables in the music world as F. H. Behymer and Dr. Otto Klempener have commented highly on her exceptional talent. Gloria's most recent triumph was scored as guest artist in the closing concert of the Long Beach Chamber Music society. Alice Maynard Griggs, Long Beach reviewer, enthusiastically praised her performance, calling her "a genius and a great artist."

Much is also to be anticipated from the orchestral program. Opening with Tchaikowsky's "Symphony No. 5," emphasized as the concert's highlight, the 60 musicians, directed by Leon Eckles, will also be heard in a reading of Moussorgsky's picturesque, "A Night on Bare Mountain," and the overture to Humperdinck's fairy opera, "Hansel and Gretel," one of the most charming pages of post-Wagnerian music.

"Give us more Tchaikowsky," has been the tenor of numerous letters received at the project office, Eckles said. "The orchestra has performed Tchaikowsky's Pathétique and Fourth symphonies in previous concerts and has now added to its repertoire the glorious Fifth which many believe is the Russian master's nearest approach to true symphonic form," he said.

"Do you know that you have lovely hands!"

"THE SWEETEST OF ALL SOUNDS IS PRAISE"

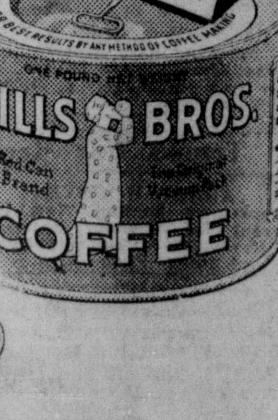

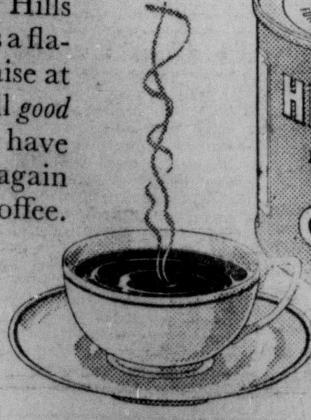

AND THOSE HANDS ARE SKILLED IN MAKING COFFEE

It's a wise woman who teaches her hands to make delicious coffee. Even more important is the practice of using only Hills Bros. Coffee. For this famous coffee has a flavor that never varies—that invites praise at the first taste—"Now, that's what I call good coffee!" For 60 years millions of women have been complimented—over and over again—because they served Hills Bros. Coffee.

SMART AND FINAL GAINS NEW UNITS

The 19 wholesale units of the Western States Grocery company, including the Santa Ana unit, 414 East Fourth street, today were being operated under management of the new owners, Smart and Final Company, Ltd., it was announced today.

With the new acquisition, Smart and Final company now has 77 cash-and-carry units in its system, extending from Bakersfield and Santa Barbara on the north to Oceanside on the south and to Phoenix, Ariz., and Las Vegas, Nev., on the east.

Eighteen of the 19 units are over by Smart and Final October 1 are located in the Los Angeles area. All 19 cash-and-carry units will continue to operate in their present locations. In addition to the 77 units, the company travels more than 50 salesmen out of the seven service houses and sponsors a voluntary group of independent retail grocers under the nationwide Red and White Food stores plan. Santa Ana has nine Red and White stores.

Claiming to be the first to bring the cash-and-carry system to the Pacific coast, Smart and Final also claim they have phenomenal success of this method of food distribution. Catering to the independent retail grocer, the company claims that the system, as operated by them, is the most efficient low-cost method of distribution.

The annual fall picnic reunions for former New York, Oregon and Washington residents, will be held all day Saturday in Sycamore Grove park in Los Angeles. Each state will have its own section of the park and will open county registers for enrollment.

The program of music and addresses will follow the basket picnic dinner hour. The popular Olson Family Hillbillies will give the entertainment of cowboy songs and stunts.

Fingerprint Leads To Arrest

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 7.—(UPI)

—A single fingerprint today cost Louis Davis, 27, Spiro, Okla., minister, his freedom and he was held in the city jail here for Oklahoma authorities who wired they want him tried.

on a murder charge in connection with the slaying two years ago of a deputy game warden near Edmond, Okla.

Davis was arrested here and booked on a vagrancy charge. Taking his fingerprints, officers noticed the left index print was the same as that on a Federal Bureau of Investigation circular asking Davis' arrest.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE

There never was more need of character building agencies supported by private institutions than at present. With the government attempting to dominate the lives of people and industry, the problem of raising funds for character building institutions becomes greater and greater.

One of the primary objections to the government attempting to give assistance to individuals is that it is so likely to become a political method of retaining office. It has a tendency to destroy the character of the recipients and does little good to the real giver, the party who produces the wealth that is given.

On the other hand, private assistance is less likely to be mismanaged. It also gives the real giver a great pleasure of being an assistance to someone. A Community Chest is the most economical way of cooperatively taking care of many cases that need some encouragement and assistance.

Those engaged in attempting to raise the fund, are undertaking an important work. Let every citizen do his best to give all assistance within his means to make the Community Chest drive a success.

"SLAVERY OF THE PURSE"

Congressman Cellar of New York has proposed a constitutional amendment to limit the federal government's now complete power over the purse of the people.

Almost all state governments have limited, by constitutional provision, the taxing and borrowing powers of local governments, as well as the states themselves. Only the federal government, through the income tax amendment, has the legal authority to take all or any part of the earnings of its citizens.

The Cellar amendment would limit the income, gift and inheritance taxes to a maximum of 25 per cent. It would thus guarantee to every citizen 75 per cent of his earnings and possessions. It would do away with what the American Taxpayers League dramatically but accurately terms, "slavery of the purse."

Some protection such as this must be placed in the law of the land if ruinous taxation—taxation that destroys jobs, opportunities and progress—is to be prevented. No issue is more vital today. And Mr. Cellar has performed a tremendous public service by bringing it to the fore.

AMENDMENTS 3 AND 4—MOTOR TAXATION AND ROAD CONTROL

Amendment 3 attempts to prevent any money received by the State for gas tax or vehicle licenses from being used to help defray the general expenses of the State government.

As a matter of fact, what is called the 3-cent gas tax is not a tax at all. It is, in reality, a toll for the use of the roads. If the person who uses the roads only pays for the improvement of the roads, and nothing more, then he is enjoying this privilege of government without paying his proportionate share of the general government expenses. We can see no reason why the users of gasoline should not pay their proportionate share of government expense.

There is nothing sacred about gasoline. Those who further the amendment, would like to have it exempt and retard production as any other belief.

The only thing we have plenty of, is pests, politicians, nuisances, crooks, ignorance, sorrow, covetousness, hate, etc.

ROOSEVELT ON OVERDARK PICTURES

"A gloomy truth is a better companion through life than a cheerful falsehood."—Augustine Birrell, former member of Parliament said.

Now, we get the report that Roosevelt thinks overdark pictures are being painted. He objects to the public pointing out the condition in which we find ourselves. This objecting to the public criticizing the acts of government officials, is in entire harmony with dictators. In Europe, they not only insist on not being criticized but absolutely prevent it. Objecting to criticism is one of the first steps in dictatorship.

Is there any wonder Roosevelt hesitates to have people discuss the condition we find ourselves in, as a result of Republicans and Democrats attempting to regulate the inalienable rights of man to regulate prices? We now see a picture of more men on WPA than any time in our history. We now see a picture of the highest debt in our country, with a deficit of more than $700,000,000 for the first quarter of the fiscal year; with people having become accustomed to being fed and clothed at the expense of the government; with the tax rates the highest in peace time history and still the greatest deficit; with money meaning anything that the President might determine it to be; with Congressmen having abdicated their rights to the Executive; with the law restricting the hours a citizen dare work; with laws paying people for not producing and making things scarce; with more people on the government payroll than anytime in our history—all these, after the President promised in his first campaign for President that he would cut down the taxes, balance the budget, reduce the number of Federal employees!

If people are painting overdarkness, when every employer is disheartened and discouraged so he will not undertake new enterprise or expand in the one he has—if these are not dark pictures, then the conditions preceding the French Revolution and the decline of Rome were not dark pictures. They are very similar to what happened before the French Revolution and the fall of the Roman Empire.

We better face the facts as they are even if they are dark. We want them corrected by public discussion instead of eventually by the army, as they will have to be if we do not change our course of government interference in free enterprise.

LAND OF PLENTY

About the only thing that we can say there is plenty of in this country, is plenty of pests. And these pests are constantly battling and interfering with production; but to say that we have plenty of the comforts of life in the United States, is more absurd than it ever has been in all history.

This is true because our wants are now infinitely greater than they ever have been. There is more scarcity in the United States than there is in India, because the Indians have not become accustomed, nor know how to use the wants that we demand and expect in the United States.

The repeated contention that this is a land of plenty has done as much to create envy, hate, jealousy and retard production as any other belief.

The only thing we have plenty of, is pests, politicians, nuisances, crooks, ignorance, sorrow, covetousness, hate, etc.

MOBILITY OF LABOR

One often hears the statement that collective bargaining is necessary to prevent labor from being taken advantage of because of the immobility of labor.

But it is the belief in collective bargaining that has had as much to do with the immobility of labor as any other factor. It prevents an equal opportunity for everyone to sell his talents wherever wanted.

It is capital that is largely immobile, instead of labor. But collective bargaining should not be established to protect capital, even if it is immobile; neither should it be established to protect labor because one laborer is entitled to the market of the whole country as well as any other laborer.

The honest man must keep faith with himself; his sheet anchor is sincerity.—Emerson.

where. It was written, as its authors maintain, "primarily in the interest of the country and nation rather than in that" of one "religious faith." It is a bold statement, on the part of a large section of the German people and applicable to all Germans who remember their heroic heritage, that not everything is treason to say that he can. In England the ruler, that is to say, the Cabinet, can not only make mistakes and do wrong, but must sit quietly, under rules of parliamentary law, while its errors are pointed out.

Mr. Chamberlain had to listen, and did listen with true British patience, while Major Attlee said that the Czechs had been "shamefully betrayed by those who have been pledged to stand by them"; while Anthony Eden declared that "successive surrenders only bring successive humiliations"; while Sir Archibald Sinclair stated his belief that the Government "is wobbling toward war." He had to endure the strictures of his own late First Lord of the Admiralty, Alfred Duff Cooper, who resigned in protest against the compromise of Munich. He has to face the critical eloquence of David Lloyd George and Winston Churchill. Sooner or later he must submit his policy to a free popular election—and the British electorate cannot be terrorized into nightmare to face another financial crisis. This time the chronic weakness of the franc is aggravated by the heavy cost of mobilization and by flight of capital reflecting the bleak fact that French political and commercial influence in Europe has suffered a body blow. The high mood of last Saturday already evaporates before this back-to-normal view. The great Powers of Europe have escaped unlimited war by yielding to Hitler's threats, but they can find but cold comfort in turning back to face the problems that remain before there can be peace.

Followers of all religious faiths, as well as those whose faith may not conform to any one confessional, will find profound significance in the pastoral letter drawn up by the German Catholic Bishops at Fulda on Aug. 19 and published yesterday in The Times. This letter is not only a courageous refusal of a single church to submit its conscience to a pagan government. It is a defense, originating within Germany, among men who have no material means of fighting Hitler, of the right of the private conscience every

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The official circle is being ransacked by business men to identify "The Spokesman" of Hyde Park who appeared on the front pages with that warning to business to stop "economic sabre rattling."

The search is accelerated by indications that something new is in the official wind—either a resumption of pummeling between business and government, or (this is no idle guess) some kind of a get-together conference between business, government and labor.

Ditpatches carried no hint of identification of the spokesman, but some White House correspondents noted privately that he was about 6 feet 1 inch in height, had graying brown hair, gray eyes, weighed about 190 pounds. Strangely, FDR himself would be described just about thus if he were a missing personage. Stranger still, the spokesman is reported authoritatively to have had the Roosevelt smile, and there is every reason to believe further that he not only sleeps in Roosevelt's bed, but eats at his table—and sits in the same chair.

Serious aspect was the spokesman's accusation that business is "deliberately distorting" Mr. Roosevelt's effort in three specific ways.

The man with the big anonymous voice mentioned first that business was trying to make it appear the federal government was going to establish regional equivalents of the Tennessee Valley Authority all over the United States.

Private utilitists did just this. Utilitarian Philip Gadsden was the first man to apply the term "seven little TVAs" to the president's recommendation for seven regional power authorities. Gadsden did it in comment on the president's message to congress, June 3, 1937.

Commentators and reporters generally picked up the phrase as the shortest fair description of what they thought the president wanted. The Norris and Mansfield bills, introduced thereafter, called for seven authorities not only to plan but to construct power projects in what seemed and still seems to be the manner of the TVA.

Thus, from the same set of admitted facts, the president and business have drawn such opposite deductions that each is now accusing the other of distortion.

Obvious conclusion is they are thinking so far apart that they do not understand one another's language. Prospects that they will now get together in any new cooperative venture, therefore, would seem to be remote unless they get an interpreter who knows both their languages.

Distance between their realms of thought is even more evident in another of the spokesman's accusations. He said business was misleading the people into believing "that the federal tax burden was far higher than it had been two, three or five years ago."

This was a mirror-shot at figures compiled by the national industrial conference board. It found that federal income from all tax sources in 1937 was approximately $5,029 millions of dollars; in 1936, $3,847 millions; in 1935, $3,546 millions; and in 1933, $1,786 millions.

From these figures, business organizations concluded that the federal tax burden has been mounting,

Distributing National Income

By ERNEST MINOR PATTERSON

President, American Academy of Political and Social Science

Last week this column commented on the recent report of the National Resources Committee to President Roosevelt estimating that the average income of one-third of the families of the United States was $471 in 1935-36 and that less than one percent of the population received incomes that aggregated more than 13 per cent of the national income. It was pointed out that this estimate agrees in general with estimates made for other dates by other investigators.

Also attention was called to the fact that this is a matter of concern for three reasons: first, because so many people that is unjust; second, because it gives plausible support for ill-advised proposals for change such as the Townsend Plan; and third, because a less unequal distribution is important in order to prevent the frequent accumulation of goods which cannot find a market.

If these considerations are important, all of us will wish to find ways by which a more satisfactory distribution of the national income can be brought about. One way is to curtail the production of those commodities which clog the markets. A reduction in output, it is argued, would raise the price of these commodities and thereby put their producers in a better relation to other groups. This has been the idea behind the program of crop control, with its proposal for bringing prices of agricultural products to a so-called "parity" with the prices of what the farmer buys.

Another way is to stimulate production but with due allowance for a proper balance—a "balanced abundance." Secretary Wallace has called it. Of course this larger amount might still be very unevenly divided but some at least of the tension would be relieved if all of our incomes should rise. This growth in national incomes has been very great in the last one hundred years in many countries.

If we wish to make the distribution less unequal we may, of course, try some of the proposals for government ownership and operation. Governments have greatly increased their economic functions and apparently from time to time less of some articles and more of others may be desirable.

Another way is to stimulate production but with due allowance for a proper balance—a "balanced abundance." Secretary Wallace has called it. Of course this larger amount might still be very unevenly divided but some at least of the tension would be relieved if all of our incomes should rise. This growth in national incomes has been very great in the last one hundred years in many countries.

I believe that such a condition can continue forever. All admit that, at some point, the burden of debt and taxes will be heavier than when the dosing began, or at least no better than it was at about July 1, 1933. In some respects it is worse. An unheard of amount of money has been spent by going to record depths of debt and raising taxes to an all-time high. But so far as any fundamental cure is concerned—no improvement.

Five years is a long time to follow a new and revolutionary course of national policy with no results, or a bad result, and no definite prospects of any good results. How long would be a reasonable fair trial for any particular course of treatment?

It is becoming perfectly clear what keeps the present doctors on the job. It is not that they have brought prosperity to anybody but that they are paying to support all those who, in continued depression, cannot support themselves. These unfortunates are so large a fraction of all people that they vote for this support.

But few of these receivers of public aid are happy or satisfied. At best they get bare subsistence. They remain sordid and disgruntled because they do not get more, and the people out of whose hides and hands come are sordid and disgruntled because the burden is so heavy.

Nobody argues that such a condition can continue forever. All admit that, at some point, the burden of debt and taxes will be heavier than can be borne—and then what? Ruin, of course, not only for those who are now being helped but also for those who are doing the helping. There is little if any disagreement about that, even among Third New Dealers.

"Liberals" and all others say that there is only one way out of this mess—for business to become active again and afford a greatly increased private employment. That is absolutely the only escape from collapse and Communism.

But under these policies, after five years of trial and error, mostly error, business doesn't do that. Surely the time is long enough to raise the question whether, under those policies, business possibly can do that.

I believe that it can't. I think if some of those policies had been deliberately designed to prevent recovery they could not have been more effective to that end. Men can't go back to work until money comes back to work—everybody's money, big and little, in spending and investing freely in the hope of profit and a sense of future security. On four fronts the tax and debt policy of government prevents that.

First, a full 20 per cent of the price of everything is the cold inflexible tax element of cost, and it is rising. That carves out just one-fifth of the country's consuming power. Secondly, roughly every industrial adventurer, socialist and communist, and cranks of every kind and brand, with all kinds of half-baked social experiments by all kinds of half-informed people.

I have always thought that above all other systems of government, the Democratic form calls for the highest brand of intelligence and integrity. For it requires this type of citizenship, to use its wide powers and rights wisely, prudently and efficiently.

When a Democratic form of government has failed to live up to its leading features of our present economy there are four lines along which we may work. They can be mentioned only briefly.

One is to raise wages. This has been done and both "minimum wages" and "maximum wages" are at a higher level than they were many years ago. But arbitrarily raising wages encounters serious obstacles. There is a general approval of maximum hours and minimum wages in order to prevent exploitation, but any great increase in wages may so raise costs for employers as to force some of them to discharge workers and curtail production.

A second method is to assist the mass of those with low incomes to become investors. A third is to exert political control over prices as we have done with what are called "public utilities." A fourth is to tax heavily those who receive large incomes and distribute the tax receipts in some way among those who have small incomes. Comment upon these methods must be postponed to a later article.
